PETITION TO SUSPEND RULES PURSUANT TO RULE 1.183

To: Commissioner for Patents
PO Box 1450
Alexandria, Virginia 22313-1450

From: Lewis C. Lee (Tel. 509-324-9256; Fax 509-323-8979)

Spokane, WA 99201

Applicant submits that the subject application is being filed under extraordinary circumstances. The application contains content from a Software Development Kit (SDK) for the Microsoft® Windows® Code-Named "Longhorn" operating system. The SDK contains documentation for the Microsoft® Windows® Code-Named "Longhorn" operating system.

The SDK was initially stored on a DVD. When installed, users can conveniently view a hierarchy of files that includes a very large set of APIs (Application Program Interfaces) arranged in namespaces and easily navigate through the hierarchy to any particular interface.

The subject matter in the SDK to be included in the patent application is of enormous size, totaling approximately 1,766 Mbytes (i.e., more than 1.7 Gigabytes). The Patent Office does not accept DVDs. Rule 1.52(e) does, however, permit

1 submission of compact discs that contain electronic documents that are to become
2 part of the permanent record at the US Patent and Trademark Office.

3 Applicant has thus prepared three compact discs, with subject matter
4 extracted from the SDK and stored in a linked HTML format. Each compact disc
5 conforms to the International Standards Organization (ISO) 9660 standard. The 6 HTML format is ASCII compliant, as it contains human-readable ASCII characters.
7 It does, however, also include HTML code.

8 Although it is believed that the three compact discs with subject matter
9 stored in linked HTML format complies with the requirements Rule 1.52(e),
10 Applicant hereby requests, pursuant to Rule 1.183, suspension of Rule
11 1.52(e)(3)(i) in the event that the additional HTML code somehow renders the 12 stored contents not precisely compliant with ASCII.

13 Applicant's counsel, Lewis Lee (Reg. No. 34,656), discussed this matter with 14 Michael Lewis of the USPTO on several occasions during the week of Oct. 13th,
15 2003. Submission of this petition was determined to be the most appropriate course
16 of action to ensure compliance with the filing requirements.

17 The Office is hereby authorized to charge a petition fee set forth in § 1.17(h)
18 to our Deposit Account is 120769.
